BABIES AND CHILDREN

should be fairly plump. They ought to put on fat as fast as they use it up; for fat is fuel, and the burning of it makes power and force. Thin children—even along to the age of eighteen or twenty—are in danger from consumption, and from other wasting complaints. The children who starve, and the young men and women who are consumed—why, the very idea of it is frightful. For such as they there is always what the Bible calls a "mighty famine" in the land. Food, though it may be taken plentifully, does not nourish them. It makes no fat; it gives no strength. To prevent this, to cure this, to save the young ones at the mother's knees, and the bright boys and girls who are just looking at the world with ambitious eyes, is the purpose of

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION.

Its success is decided and settled. Thousands owe to it life and health. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and bone and blood diseases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says: "We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia. The children like it, they love the taste of it, it looks good to them, and it builds up their bodies; many little children owe their lives to it." Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists here and everywhere.

TAMPICO NEARLY MET HER DOOM

Globe Steamer Collided With a Schooner Off Cape Flattery. Small Damage.

Officers of the steamer Tampico had nothing to say on arrival here on that vessel's last trip from Seattle concerning a sensational incident that nearly closed the career of the Globe steamer. When a hundred miles off Cape Flattery a schooner under full sail struck the stern of the Tampico, carrying away the latter's flag pole, but doing no other damage. Had the Tampico been thirty seconds later in crossing the windjammer's bow the steamer might have gone to the bottom.

The collision occurred at night. The officer on watch on the steamer saw the sailing ship approaching, but misjudged distance and crossed the other's bow very close. The engines of the Tampico are in her stern, and with the vessel heavily loaded the stern lies deep in the water. A half a minute slower, and the Tampico would have had the whole of her stern stove up and her engines demolished. A storm was also raging, and the probabilities are that none of the people on the Tampico would have been saved.

It is said that the officer on watch did not report the affair to Captain Ames. When questioned the next day he is alleged to have told the skipper that the missing flagpole had been carried away by the winds during the night. But Captain Ames has been in all kinds of gales, typhoons, cyclones and hurricanes during his service at sea, and knows about how hard it must blow to carry away such a piece of gear as a well fastened flagpole. He questioned the members of the crew who had been on duty during the night and learned that the facts were substantially as stated above. Then things happened. The men on the steamer experienced the worst shaking up that they ever had. Captain Ames caused a temporary typhoon to swoop right through the vessel. Then things quieted down, but a few days later Mr. Maxwell, the passenger, was accidentally killed. It is alleged that after Maxwell's death one of the officers of the vessel was afraid to go on the bridge alone at night. He was afraid of Maxwell's ghost. Finally it was decided that a watchman should spend the watch with him on the bridge.

The Tampico also had other trouble. The ship was hard to steer. A quartermaster could not handle the wheel, even after watching Captain Ames do the work for a while. After the Captain had been at the wheel for awhile the quartermaster remarked: "You like it so well, you better keep on at it." This man refused to reenter the wheel house, and later Captain Ames disrated him and gave him his discharge at Honolulu.

These facts have all been made known to the main office of the company at Seattle and it is quite likely that a shaking up of things will occur on the arrival of the vessel there, for the steamer had the narrowest possible escape from destruction on the trip down. Although crammed with cargo when she arrived here from Seattle, the vessel had to return with only 100 tons of scrap iron as cargo and carrying 300 tons of ballast.

Schooner Concord in Hard Luck.

During her three week's absence from Honolulu the small schooner Concord had a hard time. While at anchor off Honakaa a squall struck her. The anchor chain snapped and the anchor was lost, although the steamer was quickly run away from the rocks. She also lost her fore topmast. Some of her deckload of lumber was swept overboard at Honakaa.

Big Shipment of Coffee

The gasoline schooner Eclipse, which arrived from windward ports yesterday morning, brought a shipment of about 700 bags of coffee. She had a big amount of general cargo. Captain Townsend will take the vessel out again tonight on her regular run to Molokai, Maui, and Hawaii ports.

China Expected Today.

Although the Pacific Mail liner China is not scheduled to arrive from San Francisco until tomorrow, it is expected she will put in an appearance this afternoon. She will have mail and news files up to and including December 3.

Antique at Kahului.

The British bark Antiope, with a cargo of coal from Ladysmith, arrived at Kahului on December 2 and, securing her orders, sailed on the same day for Makawili, where she will discharge her cargo.

MADE RUN FROM COAST QUICKLY

Schooner W. H. Marston Came Down in Fifteen Days.

The five-masted schooner W. H. Marston, Captain Curtis, arrived in port early yesterday afternoon after a splendid winter voyage of fifteen days from San Francisco, and berthed at Brewer's wharf, where she will discharge her large cargo of general merchandise.

The Marston is jam full of cargo, and even has some stored away in her fore'sle and storerooms. The vessel had a fine voyage, enjoying good weather, and did not strike the calms that the officers of the steamer Nevada expected her to meet. Although the officers of the Nevada sighted the Marston on last Thursday, no one on the schooner saw that steamer.

It was this vessel which lost her mate through an accident in San Francisco. Captain Curtis states that the officer's arm was caught in the winch, and that his body was twisted several times around the winch before he, the Captain, had time to shy off the steam and stop the winch. Waterfronters didn't recognize the skipper at first glance yesterday, as he has had his mustache shaved off clean since leaving Honolulu on his last run to San Francisco.

BAD COMPANY

Not a Home in Honolulu Where This Visitor is Welcome.

The most unwelcome visitor in Honolulu is any itching skin disease. Itching piles is known in nearly every household.

And eczema is no stranger. They're both bad company. They come early—stay late. We always say "good riddance" when they go.

Know how to keep them away? Use Doan's Ointment.

Doan's Ointment cures piles and all itchiness of the skin.

A Victoria, Australia man endorses our claims.

Mr. William Preston has been a resident of Victoria for over half a century and therefore will be known to many of our readers. Mr. Preston is at present residing at No. 68 Argyle St., St. Kilda. He says: "For some considerable time I have been troubled with Eczema on my legs. The irritation at times was very great especially at night, and it caused me considerable annoyance. I obtained a pot of Doan's Ointment and I must say that it allayed the irritation almost immediately. Doan's Ointment is a good remedy and I can highly recommend it for Eczema."

Doan's Ointment is splendid in all diseases of the skin, eczema, piles, hives, insect bites, sores, chilblains, etc. It is perfectly safe and very effective. Doan's Ointment is sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.
